Short profile of the Organisation: Fundación Pública Andaluza Progreso y Salud (FPS) is a non-for-profit organization which belongs to the Andalusian Regional Ministry of Health. FPS provides services to the Andalusian Public Health System through three lines of activity: R&I, which manages research and innovation in Health; Information and Communication Technologies (ICT); and IAVANTE, which includes training and evaluation of professional expertise. The Andalusian Public Health System, with more than 95,000 employees, is responsible for the provision of healthcare to all the population of Andalusia, one of the largest regions in Europe, with 8.4 million inhabitants. For this reason, FPS can offer different types of scenarios to carry out pilot projects.

One of the main goals of FPS is to boost health research and innovation in the region through the R&I area, which is responsible for giving facilities and support to the centres and research groups during the whole scientific process, especially for biomedical research. In the area of ICT development, the entity aims to achieve a higher quality of care for citizens, promoting new and innovative tools which will facilitate the work of healthcare professionals by making processes faster and more efficient. On the other hand, the training and evaluation of professional expertise activities are managed by IAVANTE, which is responsible for promoting the development of technical skills of the professionals who work at the Andalusian Public Health System.

With the objective of integrating society in science and innovation, since 2008 FPS carries out

Horizon 2020
